Delivered Refere the Macon County Sunday School Convention at Hay-ristown, Aug. 13, 1875, by Rev. N. S. Haynes.

Elder Haynes addressed the convention as follows

SUNDAY SCHOOLS

By all intelligent people the Sunday school is now recognized as one of the most impatantycligious institutions of the age. In its most essential foatures it is the cotemporary of every age. As a means of religious education to the large perition of the rising generation, of religious education to the large perition of the rising generation, of religious education to the large perition of the rising generation, of religious education, of religious education, of religious education, of religious entre observance and christian principle, it is ecutified to a high place. It is one of the most efficient means of extending the kingdom of Christ. Pare teligion and undefield, and the Godly up-bringing of the young, have aver gone hand in hand.

Origin of sunday schools. ORIGIN OF BUNDAY SCHOOLS

To place your fingers upon the exact day school originated, may not be any easy task. It is customary to speak of them as exclusively of recen brigh them as exclusively of recen origin. The idea has gained currency that Sun they schools are the result of the superior wisdom and segacity of modern times. But as the subject is more enegally examined, the sentiment is duity gaining ground that the Sunday school idea had its origin much further back than in the public effects of Charles Boromeo, in the 18th century, or Robert Rankes, in the 18th

As we search the records of the primitative church, and inquire catically after Apostolic teaching and practice, we shall undoubtedly find, to our astonish ment, perhaps, something very much like the Sunday school of our own tinia. The Sunday school idea is most clearly prominent. It is true that church his tory is not overflowing with facts upon the question, yet it is sufficiently full. The New Testament is not prodigal in its testimony in regard to its conduct, and yot the outlines of the institution and drawn there. I gaily church history, when it testifies, places i a wright of all its evidence in favor of the institution. The Lord's day inceiming of the Apostolic church were not stoply guiltings of the wife to the outlines of the institution. As we sunrely the records of the prim The Lord's day meetings of the Apostolic church were not simply gatherings of men and weigen, the young were there at well, and the very young were not forgotten in the holy manishing of the sacial day. The chiers or other leading members of the primitive congregation, having their example from the synagogiae macine, taught the young and the did the words of this lift." And in all the churches of the synats, specially where otherches of the sints, specially where they were largely converts from Ludism, the general custom was to call the attention of the entire body to some one special portion of the word of God Moshetm, in this "Church History", speaks of calchument as an order in the Accordance of the total the church the same order in the

in the next speaks of elementarias as noted in the treasen in the says in the says and the same in the says when the church began to figurish and its members necessary to divide Christians into two orders; distinguished by the names of shelicous and execution of the same of sections who had mens The former were those who had been solemnly admitted into the church by haptism, and in consequence thereof, wore marine (ed in all the mysteries of teligion, had access to all the parts of telegion, had access to all the parts of the pirry worship, and was authorized to vote in the cells assaid as seemblicy. The latter was such as had not yet been dedicated to tred and Christ by baptism and were, therefore, norther admitted to the public prayers, nor to the hely communion, nor to the leafy communion, nor to the leafy communion. Thus it appears, plainly, that the S S in its substantial equivalent was found in the primitive church, and that it was a firld wherein all the activity and diffusiasm of the entire congregation

THE RESPONSIBLE PARTY.

A Springfield correspondent of the Bloomington Pantagraph gives the following bit of history with reference to the action of the legislature last winter concerning the Williamson county troubles, which fully corroborates the statements made in these columns last week:

It should be remembered that no official request had been made for State ting must be done out of the usual course marked out by law, that the above message was presented to the Assembly. The idea of the Governor, More About Mrs. Lincoln. after consulting with the Representative The township committees will be duly and others, was that with a suitable fund at his disposal he could employ officient detectives, and otherwise aid the county officers in securing the punishment of wrong-doers.

AN ELOPEMENT!

Aud a Case of Bigniny.

There has been a profound excitement in colored circles during the last twenty-four hours, and little knots of our dusky citizens have been seen during that time standing on the street corners Local Notices will be inserted at Ten Omic discussing the circumstance which has sensation. The facts of the case seem to be about as follows:

Some six months ago a dashing young mulatto, aged about 28, made his apponrance in Docatur, and secured em ployment in the barber shop of Dalton Steward. He wore good clothes, talked glibly, spont his wages freely, and soon became quite a favorite in the society of colored apper-tendom. He boarded in the family of his employer, whose daughter, Alice, soon became infatuated with the dashing young cavalier. Our bare however, seemed to pay but little almost solo attendants of these schools; then the teachers went to work, the fresh, voluptuous-looking femule of man seemed to monopolize her attention, and her parents supposed that marriage would be the result. 'In the meantime our gay Lotharlo kept on in his conquests, and did not confine his attentions to his own race. It is reported that he made a trip to Peoria not long since, in company with a daughter of the Caucassian race who domiciles at "Idlewild." For this and other moral obliquities Stoward directed him to find another boarding place, and he ac- ject of all. cordingly did so. The family, however, never dreamed that Alice was in any

It now transpires that Thorpe has a w fe and two children in Indiana, and it is rumored that he has also other conjugal relations in divers places. Stowand says that the fact of his being a married man was generally known among the colored people, and that the deladed gitl was not ignorant of it. It is not known where the parties me at present, but if Thorpe shows his head again in Decatur he will be very likely to have a situation at Joliet forced upon

THE GROWTH OF THE S. S. IDMA. The growth of the S. S. idea, like all other growths, has been gradual. The full-paneplied system of B. S's of to-day was not the product of an hour. A century has almost gone since Robt. Raikes toiled in Gloucester, and more than three centuries have passed away since Charles Boromio, the nophew of Pope Pius IV, established similar schools in

But now the children of the rich and the poor are found upon the same platform, the teachers work for the leve form, the teachers work for the level and youths; the rich give, of their abundance to sustain them and the poor of their hearts to keen them strong, and the Bible, at least in profession, is made the only text-book, and the study of its kired laborers of a man of means; then twenty-four. Indeed, another young and well-fed, langued at the idea of this way; then primers and spellers were the principal books used—the Bible scarcely being used in the schools. But now the children of the rich and the only text-book, and the study of its pages is declared to be the supreme ob-

As a modern institution the S. S. sys-tem was cortainly feeble enough at its beginning. No church would take it danger of falling a victin to the wiles and rits control or patronage. Individual men and women togethed what little yesterday therefore fell like a thunder bolt upon them.

but Talkes was not discouraged. He f nal men and women tostered what little strength it had, unaided by the organization of the British Brapire. But Raikes was not discouraged. Ho put the idea into a form which was distinguishable by "limb and shape." His toachers he hired; but in 1788 he made so much of an impression on the wealthy people of the realm, that he wrote to a filend as follows: "At Windsor the ladies of fashion pass their Sundays in toaching the poorest children." teaching the poorest children." In 1785, Win. Fox, an carnest deacor in the Baptist church, in Prescott street, London, become a valuable co-worker with him; and the influence of the Bap-tist body began to be felt in behalf of the now enterprise. In 1784 the Mothodists saw the value of the institution, and, with great energy began to use its power and push its chims. In that year their school in Stockport numbered 605. In 1859, it was the largest S. S. in the world, numboring 435 teachers and 4,781 scholars.

In 1786 the Quakers, under the leader-ship of Joseph Lancaster, first realized what they could do in the same direction. It is said of Lancaster "that he was enthusiastic in his calling, and be-nevotent to rashness in his disposition," in 1789 they had reached 1000 in aumther. In order to lurnish teachers for all these children, he devised the plan of teaching the younger scholars with the scholars. In 1808, his school became the hasis of what was then known as the "British and Foreign Bible Society."

About the same time the "English Church," led by Andrew Boll, began to organize, necording to the now method, exclusively "clumch school." This finalby resulted in the establishment, in 181, of the "National Society for reconcing" men, who "Geread God." archared a of the "National Society for promoting the education of the poor in the princi-ples of the established church." An atgrowth from this institution was the "Religious Tract Society." In 1784 Rowland Hill opened the first Sabbath school in London. In 1787 the Sabbath school idea took root in Scothand, and soon developed into the "Edin-turgh Gratis Sabbath School Society."

The schools under the direction of this society ivere nuistly conducted in the evening of the Lord's day. Their object

The Roman Catholics, in order to keep their children under their ewn, bother control, have also organized a large number of Sunday schools.

The Jews, too, have their Sunday schools; and their children are gathered logether not only on the Sabbath day, but also on Sunday for religious instruction.

"Then why do you put Tom. Steele, a heretic in consecrated ground?"

The answer came instantly. "Willy, you see, [sir, Daniel O'Connol was for liberty, and he was a martyr, and liberty, makes brothers of such as the sunday school, to break the fettors of spiritual bondage, and to lend tion.
